

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. By showing a program that one-sided Sinclair poses a dangerous threat to democracy. A true democracy relies on an informed electorate, and showing a one-sided portrayal of one of the candidates days before an election could be detrimental to that candidate. The public airways are not meant to be used as to serve the GOP and bash the Dems.

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.